At The Derek House we focus on:

Comprehensive: Christian & Traditional Substance Abuse Treatment

We offer two distinct, yet overlapping parts of the program: Christian (X) and Traditional (X). The Christian program presents a Christ-centered, biblical approach to recovery, while in the Traditional program we utilize treatment tailored to individual needs and the 12 step model of addiction recovery (as described by Alcoholics Anonymous).

Co-Occurring: Mental Health Issues & Alcohol and Drug Problems

While most treatment programs provide behavioral and abstinence curriculum, our comprehensive approach to treatment begins with an evaluation of the client's psychological(X), physical, social and spiritual(X) needs. Appropriate support for issues affecting these four areas of the individual is then structured accordingly for each client's needs and is integrated into their individualized program.

Drug and Alcohol Abuse Recovery: A Different Approach

We believe that there are only four causes of all dependency; 1. Current conditions you can't cope with; possibly related to your relationship with God 2. Chemical imbalance; addressed by use of psychotropic medications by licensed psychiatric professionals 3. Events of the past you have not been able to reconcile; emotional or physical and 4. Things you believe that aren't true. Perhaps you believe that alcoholism and addiction are diseases and that they are incurable. Once you believe that, the damage is that you will fail to seek the real causes. You will believe you have an incurable disease, and that your disease is the cause of your inability stop. It's totally untrue. Alcohol and drugs are not the problem, never have been. It's the reasons behind why you are using them that is the problem. Know this: Until the real causes of your dependency are discovered and healed, your dependency will almost always continue, usually worsening as time goes on.

The Derek House substance abuse rehabilitation program at Manna Ministries has been designed to offer comprehensive addiction treatment for these barriers to recovery. The program offered by Derek House not only uses a Christ-centered, biblical approach to recovery to reach individuals who are at a variety of different stages in their faith, but also uses licensed alcohol and drug counselors using well established methods in order to address substance abuse. This program is designed to meet the spiritual, physical, and psychological needs of each individual. This approach allows the Derek House to help those seeking a faith based drug and alcohol rehab program, to grow in their recovery from addiction as well as to improve their relationship with God.
